Tuberculosis kills more than two million people every year, even though it is a curable disease. Most deaths occur because patients don't know that a cure is available or are unable to access it.

£150 would be enough to translate a TB Alert patient leaflet into another language for people in the UK who cannot read English

£250 pays to run and maintain motorcycle for a health worker to follow up people who stop taking their medicine in Zimbabwe .

£1200 pays for training for 50 Home Based Care Volunteers in Zambia to learn to treat and support patients with TB and HIV in their homes

£4,500 buys a motorcycle for a TB Case Finding worker in Malawi – to ensure that children and people with HIV are diagnosed early and treated

“Access to TB treatment and cure for all is a fundamental human right. I recovered from TB, I was given the chance of a future. TB Alert is giving others the chance of a future.” TB Alert patron Desmond Tutu
